ACE - ADVOCATES FOR CHILDREN AND EDUCATION

AD-VO-CATES FOR CHIL-DREN AND ED-U-GA-TION

noun

1. The voices of those who cannot speak for themselves - our children.

ACEs are PSEA members who advocate on the issues that impact public education, including members rights and working conditions. ACEs work to promote positive legislation and deter negative legislation by establishing relationships with state and federal elected officials. Members develop and maintain ongoing constituent relationships with elected officials and advocate on the issues that are important to PSEA members and public education.

ACEs believe in public education and recognize the need to get involved in the political process. ACEs are republicans and democrats; they are local leaders and local members; they are experienced education professionals, and they are new to the profession; they are bus drivers and department heads; they are retired, and they are students. They represent PSEA - who we are and what we stand for: quality public education for all students and the collective action of our members.
